DON'T DOPE YOUR BATTERY

According to the old time horse racers, you can dope any horse—if he is reasonably speedy—so that he can win one race easily.

And, according to battery men, it is possible to dope a storage battery so that it will show a remarkable amount of pep for a while.

But with both the horse and the battery the dope is really the beginning of the swift, sad finish.

"There are various kinds of battery dope being put out with rosy promises of increased battery performance," says Hermin Guttenfelder, Willard Service Station dealer, "but they are all alike in one particular; the good they do is temporary, and is far overbalanced by the harm they are sure to work later."

All the builders of high-grade batteries put in acid of the strength they have found best for the purpose. It is far safer to accept their judgment than to try to improve their products by adding chemicals.

The worst mistake the man who marries a widow can make is to tell her what good pies his first wife made.

It has also been our observation that old "means well" never brings home the bacon.

We heard one may say yesterday that no matter what he plants in his garden he can always get chickens out of it.

New Electric Giant of the West

Largest water power electric generating powerhouse this side of Niagara Falls (architect's drawing). Its construction was commenced by the Southern California Edison Company today on its Big Creek-San Joaquin River project in Fresno County.

"Building of the largest water power electric generating powerhouse west of Niagara Falls was commenced this morning by the Southern California Edison Company," said District Manager Oliver today. He had just received a message from R. H. Ballard, vice-president and general manager, notifying him that 100,000 horsepower would be shortly available from this great construction program, insuring an ample supply of electric power for all purposes for Torrance and vicinity and throughout the entire territory served by the company.

"This powerhouse," said District Manager Oliver, "will be the fourth of the chain of Edison Company power houses on the Big Creek-San Joaquin River project and is the first to be constructed on the main channel of the San Joaquin River far down the canyon and will receive its water supply by diverting the river through a tunnel nearly six miles long and 23 feet in diameter, now nearing completion, which is a part of the 86 miles of tunnel system contemplated in this development project. The first 33-000 horsepower generating unit will come into operation about August 1, and will be followed by the second unit about September 1 and it is expected that the entire plant with 100,000 horsepower capacity will be completed and the power placed on the lines by October 1.
"This power will be transmitted for distribution over the first com-mercially operated transmission line operating at 220,000 volts, the highest voltage ever used for transmission in the world, and over a line of 240 miles, terminating near Los Angeles, establishing a new world's record in the long distance transmission of electric energy.

"The capacity of this plant will be equal to about one-half the maximum demand for light, power and railway requirements in the entire city of Los Angeles, with a population estimated at 550,000. It will increase by one-fourth the present water power and steam generating capacity of the entire Edison system which now supplies the principal electric demands in the counties of Los Angeles, Fresno, Kings, Tulare, Kern, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside, with a total population of over a million and a half.

"Torrance, Los Angeles and over 250 other cities, towns and intervening rural communities will receive an ample supply of electric energy from this titanic source of power to meet all their demands for house and street lighting, agricultural development and for factories for some time to come.

"The power which will be derived from this new electric giant of the West will be sufficient to bring under cultivation 130,000 acres of semi-arid agricultural land and to propel 600 factories, which, according to accepted statistics, will give employment to 40,000 workers.

"With the completion of the great Florence Lake tunnel, over 13 miles in length, the longest tunnel in the West, the great watersheds which lie between the Kaiser Range and the Minaret Range in the High Sierras, having an area about the size of the Hawaiian Islands, will be tapped and their water flow from the melting snows will reach the generators of this new plant at a fall from Mt. Hil-gard, the highest summit, a drop of over 11,000 feet, or more than two miles of perpendicular drop.
After they have passed through the turbines of this plant, they will return undiminished into the San Joaquin River in an even flow to irrigate the lands of the valley beneath, flood damage and waste of water being completely eliminated.

"The building of the super-structure, which was commenced today, is the final step in two years of preliminary work, which required cutting a road from the face of the precipice above the San Joaquin River, which was one of the most daring pieces of construction work of the period; the boring of six miles of tunnel, the construction of a new dam across the San Joaquin River and the hauling of 82-000 tons of material for building the foundations and base of the powerhouse which will be of structural steel and concrete and along the most improved lines of modern construction. This powerhouse will be built in record time, the actual construction work not to consume over 141 days. George C. Ward, vice-president in charge of construction, this morning stood on the brink of the canyon overlooking the new powerhouse, where the pressure mains drop the water at a head of 855 feet on the turbines, and watched the first girder of the super-structure swung into place by the great electric crane.

In his telephone message to metropolitan Mr. Ballard said he had just received a wire from Mr. Ward, which read: "We will bring in the biggest powerhouse in the West in about one-half the time that any other powerhouse was ever constructed."

12th Anniversary
Of Mission Play

On the last Sunday of this month, April 29, the Mission Play will celebrate the twelfth anniversary of its birth at Old San Gabriel. And thus will have been reached the most shining milestone in all dramatic history, ancient or modern. All things considered, no other drama has even approached a record so remarkable.

Anticipating the great occasion, the day previous, Saturday, April 28, will be observed as "History and Landmarks Day" at the play by a great outpouring of the History and Landmarks sections and the Art and Travel sections of the Women's Clubs of Southern California at the initiative of Los Angeles Ebbl. There will be a luncheon under the Old Grapevine—the mother of all the Mission vineyards of California—from 12 to 1 o'clock, after which the magnificent new Mission playhouse will be viewed.
At 1 o'clock the ladies will assemble in the ancient Mission church to hear an historical address by John Steven McGroarty, adjoining in time to witness the pre-anniversary performance of the play.

The attendance at the Mission Play continues this season to be greater than ever before. Large special parties from clubs, schools, churches, lodges and commercial establishments attend every performance. Matinees are given every afternoon, except Monday, and evening performances are given also each Wednesday and Saturday.

Tire Production of 43 Million in 1923

A comparison of statistics shows that in 1922 a total of 37,500,000 tires were produced. Estimates for 1923 point to a total production of 43,000,000 tires, according to Miller statistics. This estimate is based upon the total number of cars in the United States at the average consumption per car per year, plus an average of 4 1/2 tires for each new car to be manufactured in 1923.

Fortunes Spent
For False Hair

It is estimated that $1,500,000 worth of false hair was bought in Los Angeles and vicinity last year.
Last year the United States imported over $10,000,444 worth of human hair from Europe.
The figures are staggering enough to make the average person ask if America is infected with a bald-head epidemic. But other than the usual quota to be seen in the front rows of musical comedies, statistics do not point to an increase in the ranks of the glossy-pated.
